THIS is the first class, justly popular, and prompt paying company. They have investigation into their condition and select business entirely upon their own merits. In point of solvency and reliability and honorable dealing, they have few equals, and no superiors. They are founded upon the very best securities in the world—first class bonds and mortgages upon property in New York and Brooklyn—securities which have not, for the past ten years, depreciated below par, and are every way more solid and permanent than railroad, bank and other stocks, which are subject to the fluctuations of the market, and have no limit of profit, as the experience of the past ten years has almost, if not entirely, validated. And while these are Companies entering the field of competition, well calculated to induce by publishing partial and one-sided statements of their condition, and without a cash surplus on hand sufficient to reimburse their outstanding risks, the above named companies always have and keep over and above their capital (over the amount, and with all their risks, with a foundation and with much a condition, they claim the right to look with confidence to the public for liberal patronage.

Policies issued without delay, and terms risks for a series of years taken at less rates than can be done by other Companies, and a certain return instead of an uncertainty. All losses promptly adjusted and paid.

New York Life Insurance Company,
CASH CAPITAL OVER $1,000,000.

all well insured for the benefit of Policy holders, so that the profits of this vast sum pay a large portion of their annual premiums. This is unquestionably the very best Life Company doing business in this state.

FIRE AND INLAND NAVIGATION
Risks accepted at terms consistent with solvency and the interests of the insured.

Special attention given to Insurance for terms of 1 to 5 years.

DWELLINGS AND CONTENTS.
The solid service long and successfully tried, and the many advantages the Atlanta Insurance Company presents in the line should not be overlooked by those ready to insure upon understanding their best interests.

During "strange times" the necessity for reliable Insurance becomes an imperative duty—the ability of property holders to sustain loss being then much lessened.

Agencies in all the principal cities and towns throughout the state. Policies issued without delay, by any of the duly authorized agents of the company.

Business transacted at short notice, and with fidelity.

Second Congressional District: J. Allen Barber, of Grant.

Third Congressional District: H. Lindeman, of Jefferson.

The Judicial Election—Official Figures.

The Madison Journal of the 20th, says:—

A slight error occurred in the footings of the official votes received at the capitol, as given by us on Wednesday. We subjoin the correct figures with such additional returns as have since been received:

	Sloan.	Dixon.
40 counties give,	56,311	57,217
Polk,	139	158
Clark,	139	158

Dixon's majority so far, 1,906.
Total vote this spring in above counties, 113,528.
Total vote last fall, 112,455.

Counties not yet heard from officially—Pepin, Douglas, LaPointe, Trempealeau. These are reported as follows:

	Sloan.	Dixon.
Douglas,	101	101
LaPointe,	77	77
Pepin,	215	215
Trempealeau,	352	351

Leaving Dixon's majority, official and reported, 170.

Corruption in Milwaukee.

The Milwaukee city clerk and comptroller, Lynch and Gardiner, have been indicted for forgery, embezzlement and conspiracy. We learn from the Wisconsin that a councilor of the city, named Noyes, has been indicted for being interested in a city contract, and for using his influence to procure a contract for another person. The investigating committee of the common council have made astounding disclosures. Bonds which have been duly paid, are again put in circulation by some officials, and thus the city pays the same indebtedness two or three times.

A correspondent of the Racine Journal says that Mr. Shoemaker is a defaulter to the government of $12,000.

"He was arrested and brought before the grand jury of the United States court, but the witnesses who were summoned were not allowed to state anything which would criminate the ex-collector and consequently no bill was found against him. A civil suit, however, has been brought in the same court to recover the money, but it has been adjourned so many times that it is not probable the amount will be recovered, as the United States attorney belongs to the same clique of Mr. Shoemaker and is in his interest. An attempt has been made to bribe the principal witness in this case; one witness to my knowledge was offered $1,000 if he would keep 'mum.' Mr. Shoemaker admits that a good part of the money has been spent electioneering. I have these facts from a gentleman who is well acquainted with the whole affair, and I can vouch for them as correct. I should mention that this affair is hushed up here, and I do not believe that a dozen men out side of the parties know anything about it, but this fraud ought to be exposed and those concerned should suffer for their dishonesty."

Mr. David Secor, of Mt. Pleasant, informs the editor of the Racine Advocate, that during a residence of 19 years in Wisconsin, he has never seen wheat look as well as it does now, so early in the season.

POTTER COMING HOME.—We learn from the Free Democrat that Mr. Potter is coming home, and that he is probably at Racine to-day.

Booth is now confined in the Post Office building, says a correspondent of the Racine Journal, and a body guard are attending to his wants. It is evident they expect a dangerous encounter some of these days, as they are armed with swords, daggers, &c., and have other warlike weapons at their command. His lawyers are now exerting their utmost for him, but it is generally conceded that he is at the mercies of the United States authorities, and that the mandates of the state courts cannot release him from their custody.

Senator Doolittle, of this state, made an able speech last week in the senate, in favor of his plan for colonizing the free blacks of this country in Central America.

At Golden City, in the Pike's Peak region, the following topic was recently discussed in the lyceum, and the house was unanimous in the affirmative: "That it is the duty of eastern philanthropists to immediately export a large number of young ladies to this territory, who wish to avail themselves of the marriage state."

L. CROSSE.—John M. Levy, the new mayor of La Crosse, gives the people of that city a sound practical message. The city is only about $10,000 in debt, which is an improvement of $5,000 in one year.

The Philadelphia Press says the following are the Douglas leaders in the democratic national convention. Where are the leaders from Wisconsin?

The Douglas leaders in the democratic national convention will be Judge Marshall and Colonel Richardson of Illinois; Hon. David Todd, Hon. Rufus P. Runy, and J. W. Gray of Ohio; Gov. Dunaway of Indiana; Hon. Ben Bradbury of Maine, and General Shields of Minnesota.

Roger A. Pryor's contemptible position becomes the more conspicuous from the fact that in a duel some years since, in which he appeared as second, he appointed for his principal, rifles, pistols and bowie knives in succession. They were accepted, and his principal was killed at the first shot. Perhaps it was the reminiscence that made him unwilling to have anything to do with bowie knives.

Coal beds of sufficient thickness to pay for working, have been discovered on the Genesee Creek in Henry county, Illinois.

The Ottawa Rescue Cases.

The New York Evening Post has been reviewing the proceedings in these cases. It says:—

On all other points raised for the defense, the judge ruled sternly and uncompromisingly for the government, though there was enough good law among them to clear at least a dozen counterfeits, and as many murderers. But all was of no avail: fidu fide slave law, rural column, seems to have been his motto.

One of these points is this: "The deposition on the warrant was to—N. Albright, the first letter being something between an A and an H. The indictment stated the deposition to be to 'Lease N. Albright.' Of course the writing on the warrant and the warrant did not contain the allegation. The government then relied on the fact that Albright was appointed by the marshal, &c., a parole appointment. But it is doubtful whether there can be such an officer as a deputy marshal of the United States appointed by parole to execute a particular writ. At least the United States statutes at large mention no such officer. The ruling of the judge was very general, to say the least, and we heartily wish our state courts, in the trial of criminals, were as willing to skip over the technicalities of the law."

We understand that this case and the arguments have been printed, in order to be submitted to Judge McLean, that he may decide on these points. We are glad of this, and we confidently hope that the opinion of the district court will not be sustained. For, if any United States marshal may, by parole, or by writing the name of John Smith on a warrant, appoint any man to seize a fugitive slave warrant out of the district appropriated to him, the marshal, by law, who is safe? The arrest of Sanborn shows that the treasury usually employed by United States marshals select the night for their most striking success. It is not this and that together and what does it come to? Simply that any number of gross outrages may be practiced on negro citizens, and white men are to be intimidated and prevented from assisting them by threats of the penalties provided by the fugitive slave law; while all the safeguards of official oaths and positions, which the law has hitherto thought to be of some consequence, are to be abrogated in the single case of the fugitive slave law.

This is the experience of the people of Wisconsin in relation to the enforcement of the fugitive slave act. It is done with unnecessary harshness, and the rulings of the court have been as outrageous as possible. Here we have no appeal from the district court, as they have in Illinois, and hence the tyranny exercised is of a more outrageous character.

CURIOUS GHOST STORY.—A reliable writer in speaking of the ghost stories alloted, gives one that he knows of in New York:

I know a most intelligent and accomplished lady, who has seldom slept for the last seven years without being visited by a phantom in the shape of a man, handsome and more agreeable than any other gentleman she had ever seen with her waking eyes; and although at first she was frightened at his advances, she now finds in the delightful interviews the chief charm of life. This dream phantom makes love like an angel. The lady is finely organized and of a highly nervous temperament, and the excitement of this ghostly intercourse is exhausting her physical life. Every day her cheeks grow paler and thinner, and her eyes brighter and larger. I presume this strange experience, which was confined to me as a profound and precious secret, with many minute and most interesting particulars, is by no means peculiar to my fair friend.

Mr. James Bangs, of Indiana, recently died. We find in a Hoosier paper this touching obituary notice of the deceased:

Master Educator.—Jen bangs, we were sorry to stat, has desized. He departed this life last night. Jen was generally considered a gad feller. He died at the age of 23 years old. He went 4th without any struggle, and sech is life. 'Ua we are as pepper grass—mity smart—to Morrer we are cut down like a cumberbaw of the grownd. Jen kept a nice store, which his wife waits on. His vutcheus was numerous. Meiny is the things we bot at his growcery, and we are happy to state that he never cheeted, spechally in the wate of mackrel, which was nice and smelt sweat and his survivin wife is the same wa. We never knew him to put said in his shogary, tho he had a big hand and in front of his house, nor water in his Lickers, tho the Ohio river runs past his dore. Piece to his remanis!

An eminent judge once remarked that, in nine cases out of ten in contested cases, he would be interested in them, prefer that they should be decided by the tossing of a copper rather than by the instrumentalities of a court. Such was his idea of the "glorious uncertainty of the law."

Telegraphic News.

Our telegraphic report came in at so late an hour that we are unable to give it in full. We condense it as follows:—

Senator Seward goes north on Monday on a visit for a few days.

The steamer America has arrived from Liverpool. Heenan was arrested and had been kept in confinement until the sailing of the steamer. It was supposed that the fight would be indefinitely postponed.—Bread &c. dull but steady.

In New York flour is dull and rather easier. Wheat market unchanged. Pork dull and heavy.

The Argus and Democrat of to-day report all counties official except La Pointe county, which gives Luther S. Dixon a majority of 103 over A. Scott Sloan.

SYRACUSE, April 18.

NEW YORK REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION.—The convention has passed off most harmoniously to-day, with a slight interruption, which at one time threatened to involve it in an interminable war of words. The report of the committee appointed to nominate delegates at large, and to harmonize conflicting views as to delegates from congressional districts, called forth a fierce and effective speech from Mr. Sherman of Brooklyn, who denounced the election of Gen. Nye from the eighth district as the delegate, as the work of politicians, and not of the people. The delegation was divided between David Dudley Field and Gen. Nye, and by some legislation, facilitated by a report that the former was a Chase man, against the earnest efforts and denials of Messrs. Oplky, Northrup and others, Mr. Nye was put on the ticket by the committee. Mr. Johnson defended the committee, and asserted that Mr. Field said he would drop Mr. Seward, after complimenting him with one or two votes. Mr. Northrup defended the soundness of Mr. Field, and advanced his claims upon the party.

The Nye menagerie very noisy and boisterous, and Mr. Johnson and others supported Mr. Nye, and appended to the convention to support him. After a slightly acrimonious discussion, the question was put on substituting the name of Mr. Field for that of Mr. Nye, and was lost by a small majority. The remainder of the ticket was unanimously endorsed.

A resolution, repudiating the action of the legislature, was drafted, but the length of the discussion on the eighth district affair prevented its presentation. It would have passed 10 to 1. Mr. Seward's name, when mentioned, was hailed with great enthusiasm, and the delegation in favor of Seward first and last to a man.—New York Tribune.

[Special Dispatch to the N. Y. Tribune.]

MR. HUNTER'S CHANCES.

So adversely has the President managed to find the southern republicans, the idea that the presidency belongs to them at this time, that there seems to be a prospect of a rather general southern support of Mr. Hunter, whose intimate personal friends are reported as beginning to exhibit bitterness toward Judge Douglas. It is certain that there has been less intimacy in the senate lately between these gentlemen than heretofore, while communications have suddenly sprung up between Messrs. Douglas, Mason, Clay and Davis.

A strange report is started that the latter does not, after all, see so much difference between himself and the Little Giant, and that there is a prospect of a rather close alliance between the two. The fact is, there seems to be upon any other than a very close examination of their relative positions.

THE ABOLITION AND ITS OBJECT.

As the senate have now fixed the thing concerning adjournment over so as to allow its members to go to Charleston, there is no deduction from the pay of those who stay here.

MR. DOUGLAS' CHANCES.

It is said that Mr. Cobb assured the Maine delegate that Mr. Douglas could get little or no support at the south, where upon a very healthy Tennesseean offered large bets that if nominated he would carry every southern state. It is also stated that Mr. Seward's opposition is avowed by him to be exclusively personal. The last gentleman and Mr. Bright have been much in contact with "Hec" Cook, but it is understood that Mr. Fitch has hauled off from the administration since the nomination of Mr. English for Marshal of Indiana. When that was done, most of the Indians here proposed what with him was the highest form of vengeance, namely, to support Mr. Douglas.

SLAVES AND SERVANT GIRLS.—A Philadelphia correspondent of the New York Tribune writes:

The slaughtering of silk goods at the New York auctions is making the article so cheap and plenty here that our females are crowding the retailers because more anxious than ever to buy what they want or need, but simply because these trappings are so cheap. Looking in at these crowded bazaars, one is struck with the large proportion of servant girls who are spending their money for silks. Indeed, the consumption of the luxuries among this class is enormous. They flaunt in our fashionable thoroughfares in skirts as ample, and finery as gaudy as their mistresses. When sickness overtakes them, they are left without a dollar, beggared by the pernicious example set them by their employers. It must be evident that much of the general stagnation of trade is owing to this insane extravagance among American women. Young women may lose heavily by glutting the country with these superfluities; but let them sell as miserably low as they may, the country is a greater loser by consuming them. The women of this nation having never yet saved it, we should adopt measures to prevent them from thus destroying it.

SENATOR WADE.—"Occasional" writes to Pomeroy's Press:

"Among the positive men of the republican party there is none who deserves more commendation than Senator Benjamin F. Wade of Ohio. He is loved by his friends, and respected by his foes. There is so much candor and courage in all his actions, so much liberality in his votes, and such a conscientious adherence to his opinions, that I do not wonder to hear his name favorably mentioned in connection with the Presidency. He is, in fact, the iron man of his party, and many of the republicans delight in drawing comparisons between him and Old Hickory. He is rough and honest; has a way of saying eccentric things—putting in a single sentence a great thought—that shows him to be a man of remarkable energy and originality. He was the intimate friend of poor Broderick, and the other day, in conversation with him, while referring to that lamented patriot, his eyes filled with tears."

A FOOLISH FATALITY.—In Wilmington, North Carolina, on Saturday evening last, Joseph S. Canaday, a young mechanic, who had just purchased a dirk, while jesting with a companion, playfully struck his own breast with the knife, crying, "Lay on Macduff!" His friend told him that he had stabbed himself. He stated that he had not, but upon looking at his breast, perceived the blood, when he uttered "Good Lord!" and falling backwards in the door, died almost immediately. It is supposed that when he struck himself with the dagger, he intended to do so with the handle, and had often done so before, repeating dramatic actions, and "sailing the action to the word."

A COINCIDENCE.—On Saturday last one of the Chicago trains ran over and killed an ox near Belleville, where the calamity happened to the excursion train last fall. We are also informed that it was the same engine attached to that ill fated excursion train, and under the charge of the same engineer, and that the ox now run over is the mate to the one killed the same place last fall.—Fond du Lac Press.

"Occasional," in writing to the Philadelphia Press, speaks of the excitement occasioned by Lovejoy's speech, and of him personally, in the following strain:

"His intellect is a remarkable one. He is evidently a highly accomplished scholar, as he is unquestionably a most forcible and fearless orator. Of medium size, olive complexion, well knit frame, strong face and flashing black eyes, he seems to be, and no doubt is, a man of resolution, fixity of purpose and indomitable will. While speaking, he reminded me of Alexander Dimitry; indeed, he resembles him, though not so large a man. When he got the floor yesterday, a strong speech was generally expected, for Lovejoy is full of the subject, and has only been restrained from giving utterance to his opinions by the appeals of his party friends; but no one was prepared for such an outburst of invective, such a torrent of indignant eloquence as fell from his lips.

I have rarely seen the house so much disturbed as during the delivery of this extraordinary philippic against the south. There was a dejection and a scorn in his manner and in his language, of which I can give you no idea. He left his seat, came down in the main aisle of the house, and addressed to the northern members directly. The effect may be well conceived. Several fire eaters attempted to get near him, and in an instant the whole body was in an uproar of confusion. Imprecations and threats were hurled from one side to the other, and for a while it seemed as if we were on the eve of one of those personal conflicts which have been so frequently threatened and apprehended by the moderate men in congress. During the tempest Lovejoy stood calm and silent, and when order had been in a measure restored, he left his seat and mounted the clerk's desk, from which elevated position he finished his remarks, abating in nothing of temper, of manner or of language the spirit that marked his beginning."

When the bill was under discussion in the senate to appropriate $25,000 out of the national treasury to the public schools of the District of Columbia, Senator Duffie of this state moved an amendment that all who paid taxes should participate in the benefits of the appropriation. Mason, of Virginia, on that amendment said:—

"He was opposed to the amendment. He thought it wise policy on the part of the southern states to withhold education from the slaves—negroes, bond or free, form no part of our political society."

When this session of Mason's to those who advocate slavery as a civilizing and christianizing institution. Will some one of that class be so good as to reconcile this statement, which is the undoubted policy of the south, with their theory.—Free Dem.

While we regret to see that in certain counties hundreds of professing republicans have openly and recklessly betrayed fidelity to their party organization in the late campaign for supreme judge, by condescending with the democracy, whom they pretend to oppose politically, we rejoice to see, that generally, republicans have held to their integrity, and in many counties have increased their majorities. Among them we feel justly proud of Monroe county. But very few, if any, republicans in it have bolted the republican nomination. They have stood, as we trust they always will hereafter, firm to the great first principle—that majorities shall not be permitted to inaugurate gross and flagrant violations of the constitution and of the principles for the candidate of that position. We consider this to be a cardinal virtue in a party. Without it all political organizations and party discipline are but ropes of sand.—Sparta Herald.

WHO DROVE THE BRITISH OUT OF NEW YORK.

In one of the little villages of Westchester county lived an old fellow, somewhat fond of his glass of toddy, and of hanging round the barroom of the village tavern, to hear the gossip, and occasional "indulge," and sometimes to an excess, of which he was afterwards very much ashamed. He went by the name of "Old Sam," and was really an entertaining personage. He had seen Gen. Washington, and was, according to his own story, the cause of the British evacuating the city. "Come Sam," some village tavern-bouncer would say, "tell us about your driving the British out of New York?" "Well, now, Squire, I don't say exactly that I did do it, but I'll give you the facts, and you can draw your own conclusions from them. The fact was, when the British was in New York, and I knew, and was well, that they had been here long enough; and for one I was determined they shouldn't be there any longer. One night, after we had been talking about it for some time, before going to bed, I said to our folks: 'I shall ride to the city to-morrow morning, and be there before daybreak; and I shall go armed.' I went right out to the stable, with a lantern, three hours before daylight, saddled our old white mare, put two loaded pistols in the holsters of the saddle, and took my father's sword that he carried at Bunker Hill, and got into New York early in the morning, and rode straight to the city. 'I have evacuated the city, do you mean to say?' 'I meant to say they had retreated—gone—run away! Now I don't mean to say that the British knew that I was coming, but I do say, that it looked very much like it!'"

TOO MANY CHURCHES.—A prominent slaveocrat in this city, a few days since, was boastfully declaring his assurance of the success of his party in the presidential election, and that he had secured the nomination of our republican friend S. W. Yawkey, (formerly of this city, but now of Chicago) very opportunely appeared, stating that he wasn't a betting man but proposed that each should subscribe $500 toward the erection of a Congregational church in this city, the one whose party should be defeated in the presidential election to pay the whole. The slavery man quickly backed down on this proposition. "No, no," said he, "there are too many churches for us here already!"—Saginaw Enterprise.

Mr. Pryor's Entrance into the House.

WASHINGTON, April 18, 1880.

Mr. Pryor entered the House on Wednesday at the usual hour, this morning, after an absence of five days. The contrast between his reception and that of Mr. Potter, on Friday, could not have been more striking and significant. It was the difference between an ovation, generous and hearty, spontaneous and simple, and yet unpremeditated and unexpected, and a reception in which it is difficult to say whether undisguised neglect, or ill-concealed contempt, was the more prominent feature. I am referring now to the reception given to Pryor by the democratic side of the chamber. He had been absent for five days on a common business visit to Virginia, his return would have called forth greetings far more numerous. While, had an ordinary acquaintance kept him from his seat that length of time, his recovery would have been welcomed by a general nodding of heads, and an occasional shaking of hands from the more ardent of the chivalry—but to day he entered the House, walked to his seat with an easy air, not a member noticing him on the way, and quietly resumed the cushion which he so ostentatiously quitted on Wednesday last. Soon, and as if by mere accident, some three or four southern gentlemen, who seemed to be attending to his return, were in business arounds, shook him by the hand in a most common-place way. And that was the beginning and the end of the reception! Not long afterward he went into the most frequented part of the lobby, adjacent to the democratic side of the chamber, and there stood for some time, pretending to read a bit of manuscript—but though many persons passed him, not one individual greeted him.

A little later, after his return to the hall, a southern member called Pryor's attention to the fact that the stock of a pistol was protruding from the rear pocket of his coat. Adjusting his dress, and not long afterward disappeared for the day.

Comment upon the difference in the treatment meted to Potter and Pryor, by their respective friends, on these two occasions, is unnecessary. It is conclusive proof of which the general judgment of friend and foe assigns the triumph to, in the recent controversy. It is an irrevocable verdict upon that point of the case, at all events—and, in such matters, public opinion never errs.

MEMORIAL OF ELIJAH LOVEJOY.—The New York Evening Post, in an article on Hon. Owen Lovejoy's late speech in congress, thus alludes to the murder of his brother by a pro-slavery mob from Missouri:

Elijah P. Lovejoy, the brother of Owen Lovejoy, was a native of Maine, and was graduated at Waterville College in 1828. He practiced law some time in St. Louis, Mo., but subsequently entered the clerical, became an agent of the Sunday school union, and was finally selected to conduct a religious paper in St. Louis. In his editorial capacity he maintained the right of an American citizen to free discussion; and when a free colored man was burned to death near St. Louis, he rebuked the savage outrages in such terms as it deserved. And for this he was driven out of the state of Missouri.

He next established himself at Alton, Ill., and began the publication of a paper called the Alton Observer. In this journal he avowed his opposition to the system of slavery, and he personally incurred the odium of his views upon the subject. Being on the border of a slave state, three times his office was demolished and his press destroyed; but his friends came promptly to his assistance, and replaced the property of which his enemies had deprived him, in violation of law and justice. The publication of the Observer was therefore resumed.

In November, 1837, Mr. Lovejoy's press having been recently destroyed, and a new one ordered, a meeting was called ostensibly for the purpose of allaying excitement, but really to intimidate the bold advocate of freedom. Mr. Lovejoy appeared at this meeting, and in a brilliant and manly speech defended the freedom of conscience and the liberty of the press. Soon after this his press arrived, and the 6th of November, 1837, it was lodged in a stone warehouse, where Mr. Lovejoy and some of his friends took shelter, ready to defend it against an expected attack. The mob assembled the same night and fired upon the building, but failing to dislodge the occupants, they attempted to set fire to the warehouse, where Mr. Lovejoy went out to prevent them, when he was shot dead, pierced with ten bullets.

Mr. Lovejoy left a wife and three children. Mrs. Lovejoy stood by him nobly in his trials, and particularly during a brutal assault upon him previous to the fatal affray at Alton.

When Lovejoy's mother learned the tidings of his death, she calmly exclaimed: "It is well. I had rather he should fall a martyr to his cause than prove recreant to his principles."

REXING OFF BY EXPRESS.—Nemo in a Box.—No one would think to charge the Adams Express with being concerned in the Underground Railroad business, but from an affair brought to light at Seymour, on Saturday night, it appears that the express, without the knowledge of its managers, messengers, or any of its employees, was made the medium of running off a negro, which came near proving successful.

It appears that, on Friday evening, a white man called on the Adams express office at Nashville, and inquired whether he could have a box forwarded to Cincinnati. He was told to have it there at 9 o'clock in the morning and it would be delivered at Cincinnati on the morning following. Accordingly the box was sent to the office at the hour named, and placed on the train, which leaves at ten o'clock. It was received here at eight o'clock on Saturday night, taken in the express wagon to the Jeffersonville railroad depot, and forwarded in the 10 P. M. train, the shipper of the box being a passenger on both trains. On the arrival of the train at Jeffersonville the box was transferred to the Ohio and Mississippi railroad train. Being roughly handled, a piece of plank came off, and a live negro was seen snugly caged in it. He was brought out, and proved to be a runaway from Nashville. In the meantime the Ohio and Mississippi train started off with the white man who had shipped the box, leaving the negro at Seymour, who was brought back to this city by the return messenger yesterday morning and lodged in jail, subject to the order of the owner.

The negro says he belongs to Mr. McCoy, of Nashville. He gave the white man, whom he had known but a few days, $70 in money and a gold watch. The box being found, the negro was placed in a cage, and occupy a stooping position and could not move, and at Bowling Green, where the box was turned in the car, his head was down and his whole body was resting on it. He endured it, however. His eyes when released were bloodshot, but his appearance had not changed in any other respect.—Louisville Journal, April 16th.

OUR BABY.

BY MRS. F. D. BARK.

Did you ever see our baby? Little one, with eyes so sparkling bright, With her hair so soft and wavy, Lips and cheeks of rosy light— Tell you what, I love her dearly, She is just the sweetest baby In the lot.

All she is only darling, And to me she is my life, All her little ways are witty, And when she sings her little ditty, Every word is just as pretty As can be.

Not another in the city Sweet as she, You don't think so—never saw her: With you could, You hear with her playthings clattering, Hear her little tongue chattering— Little darling, let me patter— Think you would Love her just as well as I do— If you could.

Every grandchild's only darling, I suppose, Is as sweet and bright a blossom, Is a treasure to her parents, Is as cheering and endearing As any thing.

Heavenly Father, spare them to us Till life's close.

WHEELER & WILSON'S SEWING MACHINES. —The undersigned, traveling agent for the sale of Wheeler & Wilson's Sewing Machines, would announce to the citizens of Janesville and vicinity, that he has arrived in town and taken rooms at the American House, where he has set up a full mahogany case machine, and also one of the lowest price, and invites them—especially the ladies—to call and see them operate. This machine makes the celebrated lock stitch without the incumbrance of a shuttle. It is so simple in its mechanism that any lady can fully comprehend it from observation. It is not liable to get out of order and will not drop stitches though run up to a thousand per a minute.

Its varieties of work are, hemming (bias and straight), felling, (bias and straight), all without basting—the hammer turning in the raw edge and stitching it at the same time—velvet, quilting, sprig work, tacking and gathering. It makes a stitch of equal beauty on both sides that will not unravel, and cannot be excelled by anything yielding a needle. It is capable of sewing from the heaviest woollens down to the finest mulls and Florence silk.

But it is unnecessary to multiply words upon the merits of this machine, for it will recommend itself. Then come one and all and see it, and do not think the agent will not be pleased to show it to you because you may not purchase. Come when first you see this notice, for if any buy the agent must have time to school them in its use.

Winton, the soap man, is in town, and will remain a short time to instruct families and hotel keepers in the art of making their own soap, viz: German, Brastive, Extra Palm and Transparent Soap. From 5 pounds to 500 pounds can be made with ease on any ordinary stove, and at a cost of less than one half of the usual prices charged by dealers and manufacturers. Receipts with full and plain instructions, sent on receipt of two dollars. Address, B. J. WINTON, P. O. Box 333, Janesville, Wis.

A HOME COXETER.—We are happy to learn from Mr. D. D. Wilson, that our citizens are to be favored with a concert on Tuesday evening, the first of May next.—Mr. Wilson, as most of our readers are probably aware, has for some time past been instructing a class in vocal music at the High School, and proposes to show the public what proficiency his pupils have been making in this most desirable accomplishment. He will be assisted on this occasion by members of his choir and the exercises will consist of every variety of choice vocal music, with instrumental accompaniments, and will be well worthy of the patronage and encouragement of our citizens.

LIFE INSURANCE.—Those desiring this safest and cheapest protection for their families, can secure it on our Wisconsin company. It has already become, in this city, a state institution, having agents and patrons among the best business men in all the principal towns in the state. It is no longer a matter of doubt that life insurance can be conducted as well in Wisconsin as in Connecticut or any other eastern state.

While this duty demands that men should insure their lives, it also demands that they should keep their money for investment at home. Confident that our success has been more than equal to that of the most "unprecedented," we would cordially invite all our citizens to call at the office, southwest corner of Main and Wisconsin streets, and examine for themselves.

S. S. DAGGETT, Pres't. A. W. KELLOGG, Sec'y.

Messrs. Pixley & Harlow, produce dealers, and Capt. Geo. S. Dodge will receive applications for insurance in this home company, and will also be happy to give information as to the condition thereof, to any one desirous of being informed, in Janesville.

New Furniture Store.—N. Swager, late of the firm of L. Moore & Co., has established himself two doors west of the Central Bank, where he is manufacturing and offers for sale a good assortment of furniture of every description. He is a practical mechanic, and knows what will suit the citizens of Janesville and vicinity. See his advertisement.

The Denver City correspondent of the Chicago Tribune says:—Messrs. C. A. Cook and J. P. Sears, formerly of Janesville, Wis., are established on Blake street, Denver City, in the storage and commission business. They have erected a magnificent storeroom, 125 feet deep, two or three stories high, and are doing a large and general commission trade here.

Car Burnt.—A Milwaukee & Mississippi railroad car was burnt last night, near the freight depot in this city. It contained about 1,200 pounds of household goods belonging to C. Bachman, and consigned to Milwaukee.

ALL SORTS OF PARAGRAPHS.

ARRIVALS.—A correspondent of the Chicago Press, writing from Pike's Peak, says that among the recent arrivals there are J. B. Sears, P. Sears, S. A. Couch, H. W. Gray and H. Gray from Janesville, Wis.

The state of Arkansas is the only state in the Union without a telegraph, and she has not a foot of live wire within her border.

Over 30 cases of insanity in the Ohio lunatic asylum have been traced directly to the use of modern alcoholic poisons.

The inhabitants of Ashtabula county, Ohio, are said to be ready to resist the arrest of John Brown, Jr., at the instance of the senate Harper's Ferry committee by force of arms, if necessary.

There was nearly a thousand dollars worth of gold used for the coffin of Mrs. Edward Shippen Bard, who was buried in Philadelphia last Tuesday with much pomp. The plate, handles, and heads of screws were of solid gold.

A man by the name of Wood, who was taken up at Abbeville, S. C., last fall, for using unpalatable language to slavery men, and who received the sentence of thirty-nine lashes at the recent spring term of the court at that place, suffered the penalty of the law in the public square on the 24th ult. The punishment was inflicted by Sheriff Moore with seven switches. He was then immediately placed on the cars and sent out of town.

A farmer named Joseph Lane, while plowing on his farm near Carlinville, in Illinois, on Monday, was struck by lightning and instantly killed.

Six hundred Pike's Peak teams have passed through Des Moines this season.

Nashville is infested with a desperate gang of incendiaries. Half a dozen fires are chronicled in the papers of Wednesday. The greatest loss sustained by the destruction of the coach factory of Monahan & Shirk. The mayor and the underwriters offer a reward of $1,000 for the apprehension of the incendiary.

Those who live on Fifth Avenue, the aristocratic residence street in New York. Stand in slippery places. It is the calculation of one of the most experienced house agents and real estate brokers in the city, that the average tenure of the magnificent mansions on that avenue by the families of commercial aristocracy, does not exceed three years; in other words, that the occupants on an average, fall once in three years. And as some stand longer, others must fall even sooner.

The second trial of Joseph Stout, one of the Ottawa rescuers, commenced yesterday in the United States district court at Chicago, the jury on the former trial having disagreed. This is a prosecution under the United States fugitive slave law, for the alleged aiding in the rescue of a fugitive slave, Jim, from acting Deputy Marshal A. Bright.

J. W. Ray, Esq., late editor of the Aurora Beacon, has assumed the editorial charge of the Quincy Whig and Republican. He will make a spirited paper of it.

Gov. Houston has written a letter, which appears in the Texas papers, declining to allow his name to go before the Charleston convention.

The Prince of Wales will not leave England until the 10th of July. Private letters received in Toronto state that the Duke of Cambridge, commander-in-chief, and the Duke of Newcastle, minister for the colonies, will visit Canada in company with the heir to the throne.

FLUSH TIMES.—The New Orleans Delta says there is a plethora of money, an epidemic of extravagance, and a tendency to luxury in that city. It says a small lot of strawberries, about two quarts, sell for fourteen dollars, and cauliflowers for two dollars and fifty cents apiece.

Lord Lyons, in obedience to the instructions of his government, intends to extend an invitation to the Japanese Embassy to visit Great Britain, on their return home from the United States.

The recent flood was disastrous and destructive beyond measure, and at around Pittsburgh. The papers report a great destruction of property—coal and canal boats lost, manufactories stopped, and dead bodies floating down the stream.

Twenty thousand Swedes and Norwegians are reported to be getting in readiness to embark for the United States early in the coming summer. They will bring much wealth with them, and what is better, they will bring confirmed habits of morality, industry, and economy.

Telegraphic facilities between Charleston and Washington, are only about one-eighth of those between Washington and New York, so that unless the principal presses unite in some common arrangement, there will be difficulty in getting full proceedings of the convention, there being only two wires to supply the whole business.

Winton, the soap man, is in town, and will remain a short time to instruct families and hotel keepers in the art of making their own soap, viz: German Emulsive, Extra Palm and Transparent Soap. From 5 pounds to 500 pounds can be made with ease on any ordinary stove, and at a cost of less than one-half of the usual prices charged by dealers and manufacturers. Receipts with full and plain instructions, sent on receipt of two dollars. Address,

B. J. WINTON,

P. O. Box 333, Janesville, Wis.

A HOME CONCERT.—We are happy to learn from Mr. D. D. Wilson, that our citizens are to be favored with a concert on Tuesday evening, the first of May next—Mr. Wilson, as most of our readers are probably aware, has for some time past, been instructing a class in vocal music at the High School, and proposes to show the public what proficiency his pupils have been making in this most desirable accomplishment. He will be assisted on this occasion by members of his choir and the exercises will consist of every variety of choice vocal music, with instrumental accompaniments, and will be well worthy of the patronage and encouragement of our citizens.

LIFE INSURANCE.—Those desiring this safe and cheapest protection for their families, can secure it in our Wisconsin company. It has already become, in reality, a state institution, having agents and patrons among the best business men in all the principal towns in the state. It is no longer a matter of doubt that life insurance can be conducted as well in Wisconsin as in Connecticut or any other eastern state.

This while duty demands that men should insure their lives, it also demands that they should keep their money for investment at home. Confident that our success has been more than equal to that of the most "unprecedented," we would cordially invite all our citizens to call at the office, south-west corner of Main and Wisconsin streets, and examine for themselves.

S. S. DAGGETT, Pres't.

A. W. KELLAND, Sec'y.

Messrs. Pixley & Harlow, produce dealers, and Capt. Geo. S. Dodge will receive applications for insurance in this home company, and will also be happy to give information as to the condition thereof, to any one desirous of being informed, in Janesville.
